FAQ

Why are women switching to reusable pads? Is it mostly older women or even younger women that make the switch ?

How do reusable pads help us save money ?

Every year, an average woman will typically spend about two thousand rupees for buying disposable pads. Saukhyam Reusable Pad sets that half or even one-fourth of this amount last for 4-5 years and help one realize considerable cost savings. The cumulative savings, if switching to reusable pads, would be in excess of half a lakh of rupees when calculated over the entire menstruating lifetime.

Reusable pads make sense but I am not sure I will like to wash used pads. How is it that girls and women who switch do not have a problem with washing ?

There are 2 different types of Saukhyam Reusable Pads. Can you explain the difference between them?

Why is banana fiber used for absorption in Saukhyam Reusable Pads ?
